

Introduction companion to Will Internets Eat Brain??

Will Internets Eat Brain?? is developed from text in some of my recent video installations, performances and writing projects. The writing for JWCP explores processes of performative assemblage(s) highlighting activities of accumulation, fragmentation and arrangement, together with everyday interactions between body, technology and the internet.

The text is experimental and is situated both within and against various discourses and protocols, accepted or established codes.

Will Internets Eat Brain?? is a virus or infective agent, that takes up queer practices of disidentification; the act of rejecting dominant and pervasive ideologies, as a strategy to explore and disrupt entrenched power structures of language, image and words.

The text appropriates information retrieval and internet searches taking the form of a series of cut ups and punctured narratives, SMS language/textese or netspeak. Together with aspects of internet love of the list form: snappy, happysad, isolated facts. A recent BuzzFeed listicle called '21 Pictures That Will Restore Your Faith in Humanity' has attracted more than 13 million views.

Will Internets Eat Brain?? is stark, it frustrates, drawing to attention non-linearity, multiplicity-ness and nowotony. An algorithmic and computerised tone or voice runs throughout the text. Any singular discursive argument has been scrambled and is faulty.

The writing works in similar ways to my video performative installations – in terms of various forms of dispersal and dissemination, re-assemblage, re-use and repetition. For example; this might re-form as a series of tweets on a Twitter account, as scrolling text in video works, or spoken within a live performance.

The best philosophy can be found on Youtube for sure.

SRSLY!!!!

The cat is as unavoidable as the cucumber.

It's a super ghoulish thing!!! characterized by an abnormal and unhealthy interest in disturbing and unpleasant subjects, especially death, disease, disaster and trauma.

It invokes speculative fictional methods such as carriers, radiation, mental diseases, vectors, viruses, scientific accidents, etc.

The internets is baffled. [Muffled word order variations with Chimes of Death playing in the background].

Something else returns, internets is baffled.

The scary glowing green light has left the internets baffled.

Dear networked place dislocations, what is the scary glowing green light?

& Another thing, what inherent awfulness of internets time is this?

& Hey hunties, what is internets time anyhow? and can I buy a watch that tells it?

Nothing here to type, nothing here to type with.

Have you got a case of one of these mark up maladies? (: AKA: anxiety that arises in response to nothing in particular - a particular, fashionable kind of boredom brought on by weariness with the nameless, shapeless, object-less world. Artists and poets suffer from it - a mark of spiritual depth and sensitivity. AKA a feeling of weariness and dissatisfaction/self-indulgent posturing and European (read white bourgeois people too deluded or stupid by half) decadence. Not to be confused with an @, Wiki mistook an @ for a hashtag while tweeting derogatory thoughts. Goggle no's.

Fuck with desktop !Insomnia - rethink geometry and optics of relationality. Fuck with data browser and undercut traditional art distribution systems, co-opted by the mainstream (read: white toxic masculinities) internet. Retain anti-institutional ethics, super fluid barf accumulations, peripheral indifference protocols. The Internet is happening somewhere else & doing a frighten! Dissatisfaction surfaces in the 1980 and it's doing a frightening!

SRSLY? Why do cats knock things over?

Goo goo knows unique properties and behaviours defined by both magnitude and direction. Think of it this way, as poetic temporal connections, sequences and breaks, and all the many ways zones and nodes relate. Or as geometrical properties and spatial relations unaffected by the continuous change of shape or size of figures.

See, e.g., Donna Haraway's "Gender for a Marxist Dictionary: The Sexual Politics of a Word" (originally published 1987) and "Situated Knowledges: The Science Question in Feminism and the Privilege of Partial Perspective" (originally published 1988); both reprinted in Haraway 1991. See also fancy Butler 1989.

Filth discourse through the other is also filth discourse of the Other. Boom+++++++

BTW, the direction and speed of the data flow and ironic maladies can be modified with cursor movements. Each word itself is an arrangement. The curve intersects itself like maybe a savage smell or hairy logic discovering interesting and relevant topics, the tones of happiness and sadness.

For example, see more: freestyle Judy Butler. Is you like my LGBTI reader????

Consider a brief timeline: Wikipedia (2001); Friendster (2002); Blogger (2003); Myspace (2003); Second Life (2003); Facebook (2004); Flickr (2004); Reddit (2005); YouTube (2005); iPhone (2007); Twitter (2007); Tumblr (2007); Grindr (2009); Instagram

BTW! Internets is already here LOLs.

Hashtag King Kong's rippling fur is an unintended side-effect of animator Willis O'Brien's finger's compacting the fur every time he moved the model = that's so gooey gunky, claggy.

SRSLY, on the other hand, here's a nice real-world example: The strange cadence of sounds on Jane Fonda's Work Out tapes. Jane Fonda speaks gay flavours. Jane Fonda is keeping fit with Donna Haraway repeating the phrase, 'Survival of the Fittest'. Herbert Spencer first used the phrase, 'Survival of the Fittest', after reading Charles Darwin's 'On the Origin of Species' in the mid Nineteenth Century.

But hey, SRSLY! The whole point of liberation is that you get out! My diminutive theory's optical features are set to produce not effects of distance, but effects of connection, of embodiment, and of responsibility for an imagined elsewhere that we may yet learn to see and build here. Once the science of synthesis [...] is underway, what happens to artistic re-editions of the natural world? Is this the future, again?

No ideas but in (Re)volting data. Who eats (Re)volting data? It eats (Re)volting data. Boom!!

She wore the white glove tracker for several months and was able to sense different speeds depending on the vibration intervals.

Think of it this way: as composed largely of gas and plasma, a superheated state of matter composed of subatomic particles or as poetic temporal connections, woke interference patterns, sequences, breaks, and all the many ways spaces and zones fire up and wire up. That's so extra!
