

THE NEWS TODAY

(According to The Guardian)

How long until I find out my wife is a cake?
The closest-ever images of the sun reveal it is covered in miniature flares but if you have been made unemployed you should stop reading any books you hate.

Tired of being Boris Johnson's patsies, Russian state-sponsored hackers are using Covid-19 as a smokescreen to shrink Wispa Gold and Double Decker as part of a pseudoscientific welfare racket.

I don't know whether to celebrate summer or prepare for the worst. Data suggests we must be battle-ready for winter, must embrace re-opened restaurants and bars, catch kangaroos on the run.

Are UK cases rising or falling in your area?
Enjoy a summertime surge, working from home and stop handing out Halloween sweets to children. No backslapping or bonhomie:
this will devastate the poorest nations.

© Rupert M Loydell